LYDDINGTON PARISH REGISTERS.

A volume 21 inches long by 10 wide consisting of parchment leaves bound together from the ancient records.

They are not in chronological order in all cases and damp & decay has damaged some sheets and others have been torn.

The Baptisms, Marriages and Burials are in this copy each placed separately.

This copy has been made by me in January 1936

BAPTISMS.

1562 to 1719.

Recorded in Lyddington Rulland Church Registers Vols 1, 2 & 3.

Vol (1.2.3) Pages 1 & 2 are two fragments of parchment with writings on both sides but except what is written is almost obliterated. The dates 1606 1607 1608 1612 are distinguishable.

Vol 123 P 3 which is only a torn half page - written on both sides but the reverse is too faded to copy.

PARISH REGISTERS
The address of the Duke of Kent on the subject of parish records and the article by the Registrar-General in The Times of July 1 has an excellent set of registers dating from 1559. In 1653 this very interesting record occurs:—
November 12 1653: Martin Gawford of Wickhambrook is approved of and (licensed?) by me for Registrar of the same town according to this late Act of Parliament. Humphrey (Chasely?).
From this date, 1653 to 1657, only births are recorded and from 1658 to 1659 the date of birth and also the date of baptism is given. It would be interesting to know how far this was a common practice and why the registration was not done by the incumbent in the usual way. There does not seem to be any record of baptisms, deaths, or marriages during the years 1653 to 1657.—The Rev. ERNEST SALMON, The Vicarage, Wickhambrook, Newmarket.

1656 vt 123 nrm 4p 27 James s Johnstons Janoly both 8 April

PARISH REGISTERS
The explanation of the record in the parish registers of Wickhambrook that has interested the vicar is this. In 1653 Parliament ordered registrars to be chosen by every parish, to be approved and sworn by a justice of the peace, to register birth and burials. His duties also included the issue of certificates necessary to marriages, on the production of which a justice of the peace would declare the parties man and wife, and no other marriage was to be valid within the Commonwealth. The incumbent made no entries in the registers, because in many parishes he had been ejected, and in any case these duties were, as shown above, taken from him. Thus Wickhambrook perfectly reflects the course and operation of Puritan legislation. The parish registers do not record anything from 1653 to 1657, because the registrar kept his own register, no doubt long since lost. In 1656 marriage in church was allowed to be lawful (public opinion probably being too strong for the Puritan Parliament) and perhaps baptism was again publicly performed, hence the Church registers resume in 1658. The Puritan marriage regulations, too long to quote here, were greatly superior, as far as details of registration are concerned, to anything in force until Rose's Act of 1812.—Mr. H. M. PRESCOTT, 63, Oxford Gardens, W.10.

Dear Sir,

Thank you for your letter of the 22nd April. Your kind offer to present your transcription of this register to our Library was brought to the notice of my Executive Committee at their last Meeting, and I am asked to convey to you their best thanks for wishing to make available to students here this copy of Lyddington register.

I am bringing your further letter to the notice of Mr B.S. Bramwell, the Chairman of the Executive Committee. Mr Bramwell is an active member of the Eugenics Society and I believe has himself been engaged on abstracting figures from Boyd's Marriage Index which is in typescript in this Library and contains entries of the marriages of over two million couples.

It would be most interesting to obtain some conclusive evidence relating to the incidence of plural births through several generations. I am afraid that the only information I have on the subject is that if one wishes to insure against such an event the premium payable is very high if it is known there are twins in the families of either expectant parent!!

Yours very truly

Mrs. Blomfield

Since writing the letter overleaf your transcription of the register has arrived. We are most grateful to you for this gift. I do not think that you need have any fear that the volume will be neglected. Our collections for Rutland are very small, and anything new relating to that county is sure to be of interest. Mrs.
